

ABSTRACT

Provided is a polyaniline-containing composition wherein a polyaniline is uniformly dispersed in water or a water-soluble solvent that gives a coated film higher in conductivity and superior in water resistance, strength, and flexibility as it is coated, characterized by containing a polyaniline and an emulsion polymer, wherein the emulsion polymer includes a vinylpyrrolidone and an acid group-containing monomer as constituent monomers and as essential components.